CHAS. G. DAWES

Gets Credit for a Large Share of the Glory in Handling Illinois for McKinley.

A special dispatch to the Cincinnati Enquirer of Monday has to say as follows, concerning a Marietta boy. Our people will be interested and pleased to read of the success of one of her young sons.

CANTON, OHIO, June 28.—One of the most notable guests Major McKinley has had since the nomination, is Mr.
Dawes, of Evanston. Scarce 30 years old, and of youthful appearance for his age, this Illinois man has made a fortune of several millions and placed himself in the front rank of national politics. It is just now disclosed that the whole McKinley movement in Illinois has been under his supervision.
He is a son of General Rufus Dawes, of Marietta, Ohio.

His father was one of the most widely known of Ohio's Brigadier Generals in the War of the Rebellion. The General distinguished himself at Gettysburg and on several other important battlefields. Several times he has been an unsuccessful aspirant for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

THE YOUNGER DAWES

was educated as an attorney, but found other channels more profitable. Going to Nebraska when scarcely of age, he engaged in the meat packing business as a side issue to law practice, and soon made a fortune. He erected a business block at Omaha, and has other interests there now. He made a study of illuminating gas, and is now largely interested in plants of the kind at Chicago, Evanston, several points in Wisconsin and at Akron, Ohio.

His father was an early friend of Mc-Kinley, and through their associations young Dawes became intimately acquainted with the Major. He attached himself more than a year ago to the movement for McKinley's nomination, and the management of the fight in Illinois was intrusted to him. He kept so well in the background that few knew he had anything to do with the campaign of the "Little Napoleon."

Even Senator Cullom, the Illinois candidate for the Presidency, did not know what was going on. Dawes conducted

A MCKINLEY BUREAU

In Chicago with a clerical force of 20 persons, month after month, without the friends of Cullom discovering his operations. In whatever reward Mc-Kinley may have in the future to bestow upon Illinois Dawes will receive the preference. He already is slated for the Illinois member of the National Advisory Committee. It is said by those in a position to know, however, that the young man is not playing for an appointment in the event of Mc-Kinley being elected. He is so devoted to his business interests that he wants nothing more than some recognition in the management of the campaign. The position now occupied by Editor H. H. Kohlisaat, the Chicago friend of Major McKinley, is giving the friends of the Major no little uneasiness.
Kohlisaat's refusal to support Tanner, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, places McKinley in an embarrassing position. Dawes, however, is an active Tanner man, and this makes him of additional value to the McKinley managers under the circumstances.

VASTNESS OF ST. PETER'S.

It Produces Almost the Effect of Terror on the Mind.

The building is so far beyond any familiar proportions that at first sight all details are lost upon its broad front.
The mind and judgement are dazed and staggered. The earth should not be able to bear such weight upon its crust without cracking and bending like an overloaded table. On each side the colonnades run curving out like giant arms, always open to receive the nations that go up there to worship.
The dome broods over all, like a giant's head motionless in meditation.

The vastness of the structure takes hold of a man as he issues from the street by which he has come from Sant' Angelo. In the open space in the square and in the ellipse between the colonnades and on the steps, two hundred thousand men could be drawn up in rank and file, horse and foot and guns. Excepting it be on some special occasion, there are rarely more than two or three hundred persons in sight.
The paved emptiness makes one draw a breath of surprise, and human eyes seem too small to take in all the flat-ness below, all the breadth before, and all the height above.

Taken together, the picture is too big for convenient sight. The impression itself moves unwilldly in the cramped brain. A building almost five hundred feet high produces a monstrous effect upon the mind. Set down in words, a description of it conveys no clear conception; seen for the first time, the impression produced by it cannot be put into language. It is something like a shock to the intelligence, perhaps, and not altogether a pleasant one. Carried beyond the limits of a mistake, exaggeration becomes caricature, but when it is magnified beyond humanity's common measures, it may acquire an element approaching to terror. The awe-striking giants of mythology were but magnified men.
The first sight of St. Peter's affects one as though, in the every-day streets, walking among one's fellows, one should meet with a man forty feet high.—Marion Crawford, in the Century for July.

WHICH SIDE ARE YOU ON?

Some Test Questions for Undecided Voters to Consider.

Are you opposed to a sudden contraction in the volume of money now in use? A free-coinage law would immediately drive out of circulation over $900, 000,000 in gold.

Do you believe in a stable measure of values which shall be fair to both debtor and creditor? The sixteen to one scheme would put this country on a fluctuating silver basis.

Have you money in the bank or loaned out to anyone? Free silver would cut the value of your savings in two.

Are you prepared to abandon the monetary standard which is used by all the great commercial nations of the world and adopt that of China, India and other cheap labor countries? If not, you should protest against free silver.

Do you believe that common honesty demands that debts contracted in 100 cent dollars should be paid in money worth as much as that which was borrowed? Free coinage means the repudiation of one-half of all obligations.

Do you know of any way in which men who are now poor can get rich honestly, except by hard work? If not, you should condemn the quacks who are promising the people to make them all rich by legislation which will debase the currency.

Would you like to see capital abundant and interest low? Money is far more plentiful and interest rates are lower in gold standard nations than in the silver-using countries.

Do you consider it important to the interests of trade and industry that there should be no uncertainty in regard to the basis of the country's finances? Then you must oppose the senseless agitation which is checking the investment of capital and depressing business.

Would you like to see the purchasing power of the workingman's wages cut down one-half by a currency law which should declare that 50 cents' worth of silver was a "dollar"? Under free coinage this country would have silver monometallism, with double prices for everything the workers buy.

Are you willing to bring on a financial panic, caused by the calling in of loans through fears of free-silver repudiation, merely for the sake of trying cheap money experiments which have always resulted in disaster? If not, and if you want an honest dollar and prosperity, you should work and vote against all attempts to debase the currency.—Whidden Graham.

Battle Between Kingbirds.

A battle between kingbirds took place on Steve Baker's farm near Baptistown, Pa., and was witnessed by a party of men, among whom was E. T. Lafetta, a naturalist. The hunters picked up the bodies of 90 dead birds on the field of battle, and they say that there were probably as many more. No quarter was given, and wounded birds were followed to the earth and quickly picked to death. Most of the death blows were given on the spine, just back of the neck, or else under a wing, probably in the heart.

New Use for Ear Muffs.

"I sold a man a pair of ear muffs the other day," said a furnishing goods salesman to a customer who was asking him some questions about the business.
"We sell more or less goods out of season the year round to people who are going to strange places, but that was the first pair of ear muffs I ever sold in summer, and I asked this gentleman, incidentally, if he was going to Greenland, and he said no, he was going to paid 'em and wear 'em at home when the children were playing."

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

A dry hole or two in the Cecil pool, and the same number of average producers in the same territory, covers the late developments in that part of the local fields. An experimental deep test on the Berry farm, on Big Sewickley creek, furnishes a valuable information for the guidance of those who are curious enough to want to explore below all the well recognized oil bearing formations. The well was drilled to a depth of 3,200 feet and found all sands barren.

Kerr Bros., Noll and others drilled in a good Boren well on Johnson, back of Newport, Monday. The well is an extension of the Belmont field and is reported to be good for 25 barrels per day.

M. H. Haddox & Co. brought in a good well Friday night on the Ward farm at Macksburg. The material for tubbing it was sent out Saturday.

The Bullman pool, near Wick, Tyler county, has for some weeks stood at the head with gushers in the lower southwest fields. A dry hole and one good producer was its record for the week. The three largest wells of the pool, Griffin No. 3, Stealy No. 4, and Bullman No. 2, continue to flow at the rate of 30 bbls. an hour, which is a decline of about 25 per cent. over the record of the previous week. The Carter Oil company's well on the Livingston farm, between the Wick pool and the Cow Run sand development at Hebron, Pleasants county, is worthy of some consideration. The oil was developed in the Big Injun sand and the production was estimated at 7 barrels an hour.
At this time the relative position the well bears to other developments cannot be determined. It may show an extension to the southwest of the Bul-lman development, or it may be the forerunner of a separate and distinct pool. As a new discovery it is of considerable importance and future operations in that vicinity will be watched with interest.

Operations in the Kyle pool, on Indian Creek, are fast approaching the end. For the showing made, the pool has been a sorry disappointment. The territory was closely drilled and the gas pressure was very great, and the two combined have had a tendency to drain it quickly. The size of the first wells, and the way they held up caused many to think that it was a pool of no mean dimensions. As the wells multiplied in number, it became apparent that a few wells would have been sufficient to drain all the producing territory. During the week two very light wells were completed in that pool, and when the little work now doing is completed, there will be no more started.
More will be known of the Gordon sand territory in Wetzel county. The new well on the Loutz farm is watched with some concern, and may furnish some valuable pointers. Near Cameron, Monroe county, a well has been drilled into the Berea grit that is reported good for 100 barrels a day. The exact status of the well will remain in doubt until the derrick, which was burned when the well made the first flow, has been rebuilt.

The dry hole on the Brooks farm, east of the Dye well on Sheets run, Monroe county, Ohio, has caused that new pool to lose favor in the eyes of many of those who at first thought well of it.

Late information from Tennessee all goes to show what has been claimed for it in these reports. If it is an oil producing country, it is in the future, nothing in the remote or recent past, has been developed to alter the views that have been previously expressed.
The boomer down in that country has had his inning and a story and that of the drill are greatly at variance. Highly colored reports have been sent out and they have no doubt fooled many operators into that State, but investigation has caused them to return in disgust. The practical oil man has had ups and downs enough and he is not now making investment on wild-eyed reports or drilling for oil to gratify his curiosity.

JUNE.

Oh, there ain't no signal service That is any better sign Or when the weather will be gloomy Or the sun again'll shine.
Or when it will turn colder Or when it's goin' to rain.
As when your legs are achin'
With an old rheumatic pain.

There is a time a feller wishes That he never had been born.
When his knees are soaked muddy Gettin' dyin' up to bed,
And his bones, they set to achin' Till he hardly can refrain.

Oh, there ain't no use o' thinkin'
Or the cattle in the shed,
Or the horses in the stable, An' the hogs that ain't been fed—When a feller's back's a hurtin' An' his legs refuse to walk!

—Then there ain't no use o' thinkin' Or a 'tendin' to the stock
When the chickens oil their feathers And the sun is settin' red, An' the rooster boop-de-doodles, Then their ain't no use o' thinkin'
Of endurin' all the pain.

When the rheumatism's a hurtin' An' you know it's goin' to rain.
No sweeter time of year to live,
So Whicombes Ridge thought, Than when the frost was on the pumpkins,
And the fodder's in the shock;
If he'd 'a' had rheumatism, He'd have changed the time, I ween, To when the tater bugs are feastin'
On the farmers' pars' green.

Then the days are nice and balmy And the weather warm and dry,
And the bees are on the clover,
And the blossoms on the rye, Oh, give me the June-time,
With the happy, rosy morn,
When the bug is on the taters And the dew is on the corn.

—J. M. SHAWHAN.

TWELVE TO SEVEN.

The New Marietta Team Wins a Game
From Chillicothe.

A good crowd turned out Tuesday to witness the second game between Marietta and Chillicothe, which was won by a score of 12 to 7 by the local nine.
The game was interesting, but loosely played. Chillicothe was not in it from the first inning and put up a mighty poor article of ball.

Shiers, the new third baseman of the Mariettas, played first base and made a good showing. The pitching of Reynolds was up to its usual high standard.

Following is the score by innings:

Captain Batchelor Dead.

Pittsburg, June 29.—Captain Charles Batchelor, the well-known river man, and one of Pittsburg's most prominent men, died to-night from congestion of the brain. He was 73 years old and was a son of John S. Batchelor, who in the early days of Pittsburg came here from Philadelphia. He was President of half a dozen corporations and a Director in twice as many more. Of late years he has confined himself to the affairs of the Keystone Bank, of which he was the head. For over 30 years he has been prominently identified with everything of a public nature in Pittsburg.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey or other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need.
